

Individual Report

Documentation

- QA manual – During the initial meetings I contributed to this for approximately 1-2 hours during the initial construction. This primarily included content ideas.
- Finance Report – Contribution stemmed from meetings and additional work. During the meeting I helped to create and fill this in. Out of meetings I scoured the financial content lecture videos ensuring that calculations and layout were correct.
- User manual – Created the bulk of this document.

Production

Overall I put in a lot of research into certain aspects of the code especially unit testing with JUnit. I tried to expand the testing to accommodate JTest4. Unfortunately during the initial research I undertook I lacked initiative to implement it on time resulting in the research not being applicable to the application. In terms of testing, I was unable to implement JTest4 due to compatibility issues and lack of knowledge. In the end, time was of the essence so I decided to test the program in a more traditional way through visual verification by comparing the program outputs to the desired outcomes within the functional specification.

Overall, I found my performance in this module unsatisfactory. With poor time management and a great lack of coding knowledge toward the start of the production phase my contribution lacked in many areas. I should have given greater focus on documentation and started Java revision much earlier.
